EMS Data Management Course Coming to Central Texas

For the second year, TETAF is presenting the EMS Data Management Course, designed for team members responsible for abstracting and submitting data to the Texas EMS Trauma Registry. With a focus on the National Emergency Medical Services Information System (NEMSIS) and the data dictionary, the planning committee is bringing much needed education on this topic to central Texas.

This course is designed for EMTs, paramedics, nurses and physicians responsible for or with an interest in abstracting and submitting data to the Texas EMS/Trauma Registry.

This year's course will take place in Belton. More information and a registration link are available on the TETAF website.

TETAF Brings Trauma Conference to Panhandle RAC, Hosts Second Hospital Data Management Course

On April 28, TETAF partnered with the Panhandle Regional Advisory Council to present a trauma and emergency healthcare conference in Amarillo.

Targeting the educational needs of the region and current practice guidelines, this conference touched on many useful subjects such as the rising epidemic of human trafficking including strategies of recognition and prevention of domestic minor sex trafficking (DMST), awareness of the increasing practice of drug diversion and the current Texas regulations addressing this practice and a trauma center's lessons learned from the Ft.

Hood active shooter disaster response. Additionally, with the challenges of the 2017 legislative session on the horizon, participants received an update on trauma and emergency healthcare legislation and initiatives as well as ways of increasing community awareness of the critical service provided by emergency responders in the community.

Thank you to the host committee, speakers and the Panhandle RAC for your hard work to bring trauma and emergency healthcare education to Amarillo. If you are interested in hosting a conference in your region, contact Brenda Putz for more information.

In addition, TETAF has partnered with the Panhandle RAC to offer a second Hospital Data Management Course this year. The course will be offered July 27-28 in Amarillo and is open to trauma registrars from throughout the state. More information and a registration link are available on the TETAF website.

NICU Update

The neonatal levels of care designation process continued in May with the Perinatal Advisory Council meeting on May 2. The meeting was webcast and is available for viewing online. Program development continues, pending the final rule from the state.

To facilitate discussion and education on the neonatal levels of care criteria and designation process, TETAF has created a Texas NICU Coordinators forum on groupspace. To join the forum, visit <http://groupspaces.com/TXNICUCoordinators/>. TETAF is also building a mailing list specific to NICU updates from our organization. To be included in the mailing list, please email Kathy Clayton.

To assist hospitals in preparing for the designation process, TETAF has created a "Where to Start" document available on our website. These guidelines will assist in developing and evaluating facility neonatal programs.

TETAF will continue to keep you updated as the NICU designation process continues. Please contact Holly White with any questions related to TETAF's involvement in the designation process.

Voluntary Pediatric EMS Recognition Program Launches in Amarillo, One Million Thank You's During EMS Week

On March 18, EMS for Children (EMSC) Program Manager Sam Vance kicked off the Pediatric EMS

Recognition Program in Amarillo. This is a multi-phase recognition program for EMS agencies that wish to establish programs and standards to improve their capabilities to deliver care to pediatrics.

The program will be piloted in Amarillo for 3-6 months, then introduced to a larger region for an additional 3-6 months. After that, it will be introduced throughout the rest of the state. More information can be found online here.

EMSC is also promoting the "One Million Thank Yous" program as part of EMS Week (May 15-21). This is a program developed by the National Association of EMTs (NAEMT) and the EMS for Children National Resource Center that encourages children to draw or color thank you cards and deliver them to local EMS agencies during EMS Week.

Governor's Office Seeks Nominations for 2016 Star of Texas Awards
