Rep. Phillips Proposes DRP Elimination, Alternative

Trauma Funding

For the past few sessions, TETAF has worked tirelessly to prevent elimination of the Driver Responsibility Program (DRP) without a replacement source of trauma funding. Currently, almost 50% of the revenue raised from the DRP is designated for the Designated Trauma Facility and EMS Account (5111), the largest source of state trauma funding. Elimination of this program without replacement funding would be detrimental to our state trauma facilities, EMS providers and Regional Advisory Councils.

For the past few sessions, every DRP repeal bill filed has neglected to account for the funding the system relies on. However, Rep. Larry Phillips (R-Sherman) has filed a bill this session that finally proposes alternative funding and TETAF has joined a broad coalition of organizations representing hospitals, law enforcement, counties and the judiciary to support the committee substitute to HB 2068.

CSHB 2068 would eliminate the DRP while continuing to penalize irresponsible drivers, including those convicted of driving while intoxicated. The bill recently was voted out of the House by a wide margin and now moves to the Senate for consideration. TETAF encourages all stakeholders to support this legislation and make their voice heard here.

In addition, the conference committee continues to meet to negotiate the final version of the state budget. Lawmakers need to hear from you firsthand in order to ensure trauma and emergency healthcare funding is maintained.

Rep. Larry Phillips (R-Sherman) speaks passionately about the Texas Trauma System on the House floor.

Governor Abbott and Dr. Hellerstedt Call on Local Officials to Take Action Against Zika

Governor Greg Abbott and Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS) Commissioner Dr. John Hellerstedt recently sent a letter to County Judges and Mayors across the state asking for their continued assistance in combating locally-transmitted Zika virus in Texas.

“With the ongoing risk posed by Zika, we are requesting your continued assistance in delaying locally transmitted Zika virus in Texas this year by promoting precautions to prevent mosquito bites and taking action to reduce mosquito breeding grounds in your communities,” reads the letter. “We expect local mosquito transmission to resume and persist as the weather warms and mosquito activity increases. The Texas Department of State Health Services stands ready to provide technical expertise as you prepare your locality’s Zika response plans or prepare to conduct community engagement efforts,” the letter continues.

In addition to the letter, Governor Abbott and Commissioner Hellerstedt hosted a Zika prevention roundtable with elected leaders and health officials on May 5th, at The University of Texas Rio Grande Valley.

The Department of State Health Services has created a new listserv to share information and resources about Zika virus. Subscribers will receive email notifications about national and state resources as well as important updates and alerts.

What is GETAC and Why Should You Care?

This article appeared in the Spring 2017 edition of Texas EMS Trauma News, published by the Department of State Health Services.

The Governor’s EMS and Trauma Advisory Council (GETAC) was created in 1999 by the Texas Legislature as a 15-member Council “to advise the department regarding matters related to the responsibilities of the executive commissioner, commissioner, and department” in Chapter 773, Emergency Medical Services, of the Health and Safety Code.

Chapter 773.012 details the composition and charge of the Council. Each Council member represents a different stakeholder group in the EMS and trauma system and one-half of the representation is to be from rural areas. It includes a board-certified emergency physician, an EMS medical director, a fire chief, a trauma surgeon or nurse, an EMS educator, an EMS air medical crew member, a county-level EMS provider, a pediatrician with emergency care expertise, an EMS volunteer, two members of the general public and representatives from a rural trauma facility, an urban trauma facility, a fire-based EMS service and a private EMS provider. Regardless of your role, you have a stakeholder representative on the Council.

In brief, GETAC is charged to assess the need for emergency medical services and trauma care systems in Texas and develop strategic plans for the same. The Council meets at least quarterly and appoints committees to assist in executing its charge. A Stroke Committee is mandated by statute. Additional committees address vital areas of the emergency healthcare system. Between the Council and committees, approximately 125 volunteers participate in the 3-day GETAC quarterly meetings. The Texas EMS Trauma and Acute Care Foundation (TETAF) provides live streaming and archives of the meetings at http:// www.ustream.tv/channel/getac. So, even if you cannot attend in person, you can watch via the wonders of the internet at any time. Within the strategic planning process, GETAC has created a vision and a mission for the Texas Emergency Healthcare System that are read at each committee and Council meeting to remind us of our focus;

Vision: A unified, comprehensive and effective Emergency Healthcare System for a healthy and safe Texas.

Mission: To promote, develop and maintain a comprehensive data-driven Emergency Healthcare System that will meet the needs of all patients and will raise the standards for high quality community health care by implementing innovative techniques and accountable systems for the delivery of emergency care for the entire population.

It is my job to assure the meetings run smoothly; progress is made at and between meetings and the work-product of the Council is realistic, accessible and actionable. It sometimes seems like the process is painfully slow, except when it seems like we are moving too quickly. We have been accused of not being inclusive and also of being too focused on consensus. I believe it is called change, and the only thing worse than change is stagnation. I also worry about “mission creep.” When you have so many motivated and talented people working together, we can begin to reach beyond our charge and legislative responsibilities. It is a delicate balance and an ongoing challenge. It is also fun and rewarding! So, what does this really mean and why does it matter to you? We have and will continue to accomplish many great things that benefit Texas. When you are frustrated with something in our system and you ask yourself “why do THEY do that” maybe what you should be thinking is “why don’t I do this” and help shape the future of our emergency healthcare system. Become involved, if we do not do this FOR ourselves, our patients and our communities, someone else will do it TO us. This is a noble endeavor and I invite you to serve with us.

I cannot adequately express my appreciation and admiration to the DSHS staff, volunteers and attendees that contribute to the progress and process of the Council. We owe them for so many things, primarily that of being safe and having the resources should we ever need them. Please remember to reach out to your stakeholder representative and thank them, or for any issues you may have. Please do not hesitate to reach out to me with any questions, suggestions or concerns. I am here to serve and represent you and most importantly our patients and citizens.
